

Please be aware of the following important information –

Use of this website is at the user's own risk.

Whilst RECM has taken reasonable steps to ensure that the information contained on the website is accurate, neither RECM, its directors and staff represent or warrant that the information is correct and do not accept any liability which may be attributed to the use or reliance upon such information.

Product information contained on this website and content accessed via a link, is provided for general information purposes only. Under no circumstances is such information intended to constitute any recommendation or advice to transact in any product and you are encouraged to seek financial advice from an appropriately qualified financial adviser before undertaking any investment transaction.